Vape Care Guide

Here are some great tips from experienced users that can help make your vaping experience more enjoyable and keep your vape in tip top condition!

- Store in an upright position
- Usually the low-medium heat setting on a vape battery yields the best flavor!
- Keep areas where cartridge screws into base battery clean
- Keep away from bright light and extreme temperatures
- DO NOT stick any object inside vape cartridge chamber
- If vape becomes clogged, temporarily put battery on highest heat setting and press button several times until fluid becomes more viscous- then gently sip on tip until it becomes unclogged
- If you experience vape fluid coming out of the tip when inhaling, make sure your battery is NOT at the highest setting -this can cause leakage or possible damage to seal

FAQ

Are These Products Legal?

Yes!

Under the 2018 Federal Farm Bill, all hemp derived products that are less than 0.3% Delta 9 THC by total dry weight of the product are federally legal for sale. Our products all follow Farm Bill compliancy and undergo third party testing to ensure our consumers receive high quality, safely produced cannabis products. Delta 8 and Delta 10 THC are legal in the states of Kentucky and Indiana, where we are located. They, too, are legal as a result of the 2018 Farm Bill.

What is Delta 8 THC?

Delta-8 THC is recently discovered naturally occurring compound in cannabis that is similar to Delta-9 THC. It offers a milder psychoactive experience, often described as a calming and more body-focused feeling. Users may experience a relaxed, euphoric, and zen effect. Delta-8 THC is generally considered to be about 1/2 as strong as Delta-9 THC.

If you're seeking a cannabis compound that can deliver enjoyable effects with a potentially gentler experience, Delta-8 THC might be a fantastic option for you to explore.

What is Delta 9 THC?

Delta-9 THC is the primary psychoactive compound in cannabis, known for its potent intoxicating effects. It can produce a range of experiences, including relaxation, euphoria, heightened sensory perception, and appetite regulation.

This is the "original THC", that is commonly associated with cannabis. This cannabinoid is still regulated in many states, but can be present in amounts that do not exceed the federal limit of .3% of total weight.

What is Delta 10 THC?

Delta-10 THC is a cannabinoid that is structurally similar to Delta-8 THC. This cannabinoid is energetic, clarifying, & motivating. This cannabinoid is a perfect focused & uplifting companion for studying, cleaning, or working out.

Delta-10 THC is generally considered to have a more stimulating and energizing effect compared to Delta-8 and Delta-9 THC. Also, it is a unique cannabinoid that has a potent cerebral effect, with very little to no body effect. This makes this the perfect combining THC cannabinoid!

What is CBD?

CBD is a non-intoxicating cannabinoid known for its various potential therapeutic effects. It is commonly used for its reported calming and relaxing properties, potentially aiding in stress reduction, promoting better sleep, and providing relief from pain and inflammation.

What is CBG?

CBG is another non-intoxicating cannabinoid often referred to as the "mother cannabinoid" because it is a precursor to all other cannabinoids. Studies suggest that CBG has potent anti-inflammatory and neuro-protective effects, which makes CBG a popular choice for mood balance, enhanced cognition, & inflammatory condition relief.

What is CBN?

CBN is another non-intoxicating cannabinoid that is known for its potential sedative and relaxing effects. Some users report that CBN may help promote sleep and aid in managing symptoms of insomnia.

For some, it may not cause sleepiness but can support a balance circadian rhythm overall.

What are Terpenes?

Terpenes are naturally-occurring fragrant compounds found in various plants; including fruits, flowers, and even some insects. They are responsible for the aromas and flavors that we often associate with different plants and fruits. These compounds are not just about making things smell good; they also play a crucial role in nature. Terpenes can also have a positive impact on us humans. Many people use them in essential oils and aromatherapy to relax, uplift their mood, or promote better sleep. Terpenes have potential health benefits. Some terpenes are believed to have anti-inflammatory and anti-microbial properties, while others may help reduce stress or improve focus.
