Vape Care Guide

Here are some great tips from experienced users that can help make your vaping experience more enjoyable and keep your vape in tip top condition!

- Store in an upright position
- Usually the low-medium heat setting on a vape battery yields the best flavor!
- Keep areas where cartridge screws into base battery clean
- Keep away from bright light and extreme temperatures
- DO NOT stick any object inside vape cartridge chamber
- If vape becomes clogged, temporarily put battery on highest heat setting and press button several times until fluid becomes more viscous- then gently sip on tip until it becomes unclogged
- Be mindful that vape mouth-piece can become clogged from lint & debris build up from being carried in a pocket. To prevent this, cover mouth-piece tip before putting in pockets

What is Delta 8 THC?

Delta-8 THC is a naturally occurring compound in cannabis that is similar to Delta-9 THC. It offers a milder psychoactive experience, often described as a calming and more body-focused feeling. Users may experience a relaxed, euphoric, and zen effect.

Delta-8 THC is generally considered to be about 1/2 as strong as Delta-9 THC.

If you're seeking a cannabis compound that can deliver enjoyable effects with a potentially gentler experience, Delta-8 THC might be a fantastic option for you to explore.

What is Delta 9 THC?

Delta-9 THC is the primary psychoactive compound in cannabis, known for its potent intoxicating effects. It can produce a range of experiences, including relaxation, euphoria, heightened sensory perception, and appetite regulation. This option has the perfect blend of head & body high!

This is the "original THC" that is commonly associated with cannabis. This cannabinoid is still regulated in many states, but can be present in amounts that do not exceed the federal limit of .3% of total weight.

What is Delta 10 THC?

Delta-10 THC is a cannabinoid that is structurally similar to Delta-8 THC. This cannabinoid is energetic, clarifying, & motivating. This cannabinoid is a perfect focused & uplifting companion for starting your day, work, studying, cleaning, & working out.

Delta-10 THC is generally considered to have a more stimulating and energizing effect compared to Delta-8 and Delta-9 THC. Also, it is a unique cannabinoid that has a potent cerebral effect, with very little to no body effect. This makes this the perfect combining THC cannabinoid!

What is CBD?

CBD is a non-intoxicating cannabinoid known for its various potential therapeutic effects. It is commonly used for its reported calming and relaxing properties, potentially aiding in stress reduction, promoting better sleep, and providing relief from pain and inflammation.

What is CBG?

CBG is another non-intoxicating cannabinoid often referred to as the "mother cannabinoid" because it is a precursor to all other cannabinoids. Studies suggest that CBG has potent anti-inflammatory and neuro-protective effects, which makes CBG a popular choice for mood balance, enhanced cognition, & the relief of inflammatory conditions.

What is CBN?

CBN, also a non-intoxicating cannabinoid, is known for its potential sedative and relaxing effects. Some users report that CBN may help promote sleep and aid in managing symptoms of insomnia. For some, it may not cause sleepiness but can support a balanced circadian rhythm overall.

What are Terpenes?

Occurring in nature, terpenes have positive therapeutic effects on humans while also being responsible for the aromas and flavors that we often associate with different plants and fruits. Terpenes are enjoyed in aromatherapy to relax the mind + body, uplift mood, provide relief, or promote better sleep. Terpenes have potential health benefits. Each terpene is unique; some have anti-inflammatory properties, while others may help reduce stress, uplift mood, increase energy, or improve focus.

INDICA VS. SATIVA

Indica, Sativa, & Hybrid are terms that refer to the category of effect that a cannabis strain can have on the body. Each strain has a unique array of terpenes that can make your cannabis experience either uplifting, relaxing, or anywhere in between! Strain effects vary from increase in focus, creativity, body relaxation, mood uplift, & more!

Sativa

Best suited for when you need motivation, energy, uplift, focus, mental concentration, day time relief, & productivity. Great for daytime, cleaning, & work.

Hybrid

Great for when you need a balanced effect that is both uplifting & calming. Great for any time of day, body relief, mood uplift, creativity, & social enhancement.

Indica

Perfect for rest, sleep, relief, & calm with a heavy body relaxation effect. A great choice for post-workout, sleep, recovery, pain, tension, & a zen, spaced out feel.
